TO OUR NEIGHBORS

September & October, 1979, Vol. IV, No. 5

Marlene Cresci Cohen (left), coordinator of the UCSF Intergenerational Child Care Training Program, and Mildred Roberts, one of the older adult participants in the program, look on as a youngster plays.

Child Care Training Program for Seniors

Seniors who are widowed, lonely, have no so-called marketable skills but a lifetime of experience, and who need something worthwhile and necessary to do are invited to participate in UCSF's "Intergenerational Child Care Training Program," which will begin in October.

The program is designed to give "grandparenting" care to young hospital patients whose parents are separated from them many hours each day; to children at inner-city day care centers when staff members are absent and substitute care is needed; and to incapacitated children at home while their parents work.

The mutual need of these young children and the older adults has been recognized by the Family Health Care Nursing Department of the UCSF School of Nursing.

Program coordinator Marlene Cresci Cohen says the one-year pilot program will provide lectures, films and discussion groups to enhance participants' skills in caring for children.

Graduates of the program will be prepared for placement as employed or volunteer substitute staff in a variety of child-care settings.

The program is funded by the State Department of Post-secondary Education and is based on a successful pilot project of this summer supported by the Zellerbach Family Fund.

Anyone interested in the program should contact Cohen at 666-9063 or Carol Hardgrove at 666-4558.

Friends of LPI Wall Calendar

The Friends of Langley Porter Institute is again publishing a wall calendar featuring art work by the children of Langley Porter Institute's Inpatient Children's Service. The Service is an outgrowth of various educational, therapeutic and recreational activities regularly planned for the children.

All proceeds from sales are donated to the Langley Porter Institute Patient Benefit Fund. The calendars can be purchased by sending a check for $3.50 made payable to the Friends of Langley Porter, to Friends of Langley Porter, University of California, S.F., California 94143.

On October 4, the Friends of Langley Porter will be holding its annual meeting and luncheon. The new Board of Directors and new officers for the 1979-80 year will be elected at that time.

Community Clinics Opening Oct. 27

Opening of the two new UCSF community dental clinics this fall will be marked by full ceremonies with civic and community leaders as well as neighborhood representatives in attendance.

The UCSF Community Dental Clinics at SFGH and at UC Extension will have open house on Saturday, October 27. Dental health demonstrations will be given and refreshments will be served. Both facilities will provide high-quality low-cost dental care to patients with limited incomes while offering dental students valuable community-related experience.

Manuel Garcia has been appointed acting director of the SFGH Clinic. A 1969 graduate of UCSF, he has served as project coordinator for the School of Dentistry's Mobile Clinics, delivering services to immigrant children in California's agricultural valleys.

Phoenix E. Sinclair has been appointed administrator of the UCSF Dental Clinic on Laguna Street. Sinclair received the Bachelor of Science and D.D.S. degrees from UCSF in 1976, when he was appointed a lecturer in the School of Dentistry and co-director of its Recruitment and Retention Program, designed to increase professional opportunities for minorities and disadvantaged students.

Samuel J. Wycoff is responsible for the academic and administrative programs of the clinics.

19th Avenue Baptist Church Apartment

The 19th Avenue Baptist Church has dedicated an apartment to UCSF for free use by outpatients and families of hospital patients.

The commitment of the apartment to the campus represents part of the church's outreach efforts to the community of the Sunset district, in which it and UCSF are located. The one-bedroom apartment is located at 1370-19th Ave., within walking distance of the campus and close to public transportation. It meets the need of short-term housing for families of patients and for outpatients who come from long distances. The apartment will be maintained by the church, according to Reverend William Smith, pastor, and Ms. Enola Allen, coordinators of the service.

UCSF Volunteers Help S.F. Schools

Volunteers from the Red Cross and UCSF recently helped the S.F. Unified School District identify and refer children who did not have appropriate immunization and were therefore at risk for certain childhood diseases.

The UCSF Public Service Programs helped recruit volunteers to cover all the appropriate public schools in the city, for a two-day screening, September 11 and 12.

Cancer Symposium

A distinguished faculty of American scientists from many disciplines will address some of the most pressing issues about cancer during a two-day symposium, Saturday and Sunday, September 15 and 16. For further information call 666-2894.

$1 Million HEW Contract

UCSF has been named recipient of a $1 million contract for program planning from the Department of HEW to establish a statewide medical education network geared to improving the distribution of health manpower throughout California.

The network will be an expansion of the Area Health Education Center (AHEC) program that UCSF has been operating successfully for the past seven years in the northern and central regions of the state, a substantial part of which was in the Fresno – San Joaquin Valley in collaboration with UCLA.

Under the contract, awarded by HEW's Bureau of Health Manpower, UCSF will serve as prime contractor for a new statewide AHEC involving all five UC medical center campuses (Davis, Irvine, Los Angeles, San Diego and San Francisco), as well as the state's three private medical schools, which will be invited to participate.

According to Malcolm S.M. Watts, associate dean of the School of Medicine and project director, the goal of AHEC will be to improve the distribution and supply of health manpower in areas designated by the government as medically underserved, and thereby improve the quality of health care for the citizens of the state.

Millberry Union Class Registration

This fall Millberry Union is offering classes in Finance and Tax Planning, California Wines, Understanding Child Behavior, and Disco Dance, among other subjects. Registration for UCSF students and Millberry Union members is on Tuesday, Oct. 2, 7:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m., and general registration on Oct. 3, 8 a.m. to 8:30 p.m., at the Athletic Control Desk, Millberry Union, 500 Parnassus Ave. For further information call 666-1800.
